

MEN'S BANQUET

MEN AND BOYS OF FIRST METH- ODIST CHURCH LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church, Glendale, held their annual banquet Friday evening at the church, corner W. 3d street and Dayton court, which was attended by more than 100 members and guests. It was unusual in that each man brought a boy as his guest and the speaking which followed the "eats" was appropriate for boys and men.

The dinner was furnished and served by the Ladies' Aid society of the church and the ravenous manner in which the men and boys devoured the good things, as well as the unanimous vote of commendation for the ladies attested to the splendid manner in which they performed their part in the evening's activities.

This banquet marked the launching of the active campaign of Christian work which has been mapped out for the men of the church for this new conference year, the details of which were briefly outlined by the new president of the Brotherhood, Arthur G. Lindley, who, in his remarks, expressed his appreciation of the loyal manner in which the men had stood by him and volunteered to assist in all the activities of the Brotherhood which are planned to be for the general good of the entire community in the Master's name.

The general arrangements for the banquet, securing speakers, etc., came under the committee on social entertainment, of which Prof. A. W. Tower is chairman, and he was the toastmaster of the evening. His inherent wit and humor overflowed and added much to the pleasures of the occasion.

The chief addresses of the evening were given by Mr. Harold T. Stonier, teacher of history and elocution in the Citrus Union high school and Junior college. He gave an inspiring address of particular interest to the boys present and which may well be expected never to be forgotten by his hearers, and to have its influence in moulding the characters of boys and helping them to shun some of the pitfalls that they are sure to meet.

The other speaker was Mr. C. A. Gummere, county secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for L. A. county, and he dealt with the father and son and man and boy problem. He drew them together and showed the helpful bond that should exist between them for the moulding of the highest characters in the boys, and the joy it will bring to the father's heart in later years if he meets this obligation rightly instead of sorrow and regret and possibly disgrace if he neglects his privilege and duty to his boy, particularly during the years when he is developing into manhood.

It was a joyous and helpful evening and the nine lusty "rah-rahs" that were given to the two speakers at the conclusion of their addresses showed that they had surely made a "hit" with both boys and men.

Both of these speakers are personal friends of the pastor, Rev. B. D. Snudden, and it gave him much pleasure to see how they succeeded in pleasing their hearers.

The new vice presidents of the Brotherhood are: First, C. W. Ingledue; second, H. A. Wilson; third, A. W. Tower; fourth, A. M. Brooks. The secretary is Lawrence Ellis and the treasurer, Henry Johnston.

GLENDALE-VAN NUYS

The Baptist Young People's Union of the Glendale Baptist church will hold a prayer meeting Sunday at the First Baptist church of Van Nuys at the regular Young People's hour, 6:30 p. m. A goodly number from the Union are expected to go.

Through the efforts of the California Development Board the passengers on the Willys-Overland special train which left San Francisco on December 2 carrying the company's sales agents to the East, were liberally supplied with California oranges and olives. The Development Board sent telegrams to the chambers of commerce at Los Angeles, Oroville and San Bernardino requesting them to see that the train was supplied with these reminders and met with a hearty response.

FIRE PROTECTION

GLENDALE NEEDS EQUIPMENT TO PROTECT FROM POSSIBLE LOSS

The little boy was a philosopher. When his small brother was bitterly weeping he remarked, "Now, Johnny, I know you don't want anything but what do you think you want?"

People gathered together in communities such as towns and cities or larger political units as counties and states, might be considered in a way as like the small brother in that when times are good, business brisk and the individual prosperous, the idea sometimes obtains that they really want something when they really do not, and, unlike the small brother, who wept because he could not obtain what he thought he wanted, they can and do proceed to acquire the object of their desires. When the price comes to be paid if it be discovered that the whistle isn't worth the money and in any event is a squeaky, out-of-tune whistle, or that hard labor at a big grindstone to sharpen someone's axe is the penalty of getting what we wanted and didn't want, why the effect is apt to be disastrous to subsequent whistle vendors who may have just what the public needs in excellent tune and at the right price, all of which as a prelude to the statement that because the people of the United States and California in general and of Glendale in particular have indulged freely in the pleasure of living beyond their means and thereby accumulated various and sundry public debts and obligations which during the present uncertainty regarding where the next dollar is coming from, assume undue proportions, is not a good reason for becoming pessimistic and saying "No more whistles for little Johnny."

If Glendale is to continue her growth and we all know that she will, despite the combined effects of possible past extravagance and present slow business conditions, we must protect properly her material interests right now and not allow lack of fire fighting apparatus demanded in a town of our size and importance to be the open door to a serious conflagration in our business center. We actually need a number of things in our civic life, such as a park or parks, a place or places of amusement for the young people and their elders, too, for that matter, and possibly others, but under present conditions it would be uphill work to attempt their acquisition for reasons known to all.

In the matter of fire protection, however, we not only need the apparatus, but must have it or remain exposed continually to possible loss of much valuable property, after which, should it occur, we undoubtedly would get the apparatus anyway.

We all have a sufficiency and to spare, no doubt, of taxes, bonded indebtedness, interest and street bonds to pay off, and will probably be more careful in the future, but we should not shut our eyes to the real necessity for voting the bonds for providing our city with more adequate fire protection. We owe it to our city to vote for the fire bonds.

G. B. WOODBERRY.

ELKS BENEFIT

WORTHY CAUSE GETS SUBSTANTIAL SUPPORT—PROGRAM TALENT EXCELLENT

When members of Glendale Lodge No. 1289, B. P. O. Elks, announce an entertainment it is sure to be a success. The members as a rule are fun lovers and from the time the curtain raises until it closes at an Elks' entertainment there is something doing every minute, and it was just so Friday evening when the All-Star vaudeville was presented through the courtesy of Geo. H. Melford at the Palace Grand theater.

Beginning with the overture by the orchestra of which Julius Bierlich was the conductor and closing with the Lasky Players in "The Critic," all performers gave evidence of being professionals. The program follows: Overture, orchestra, Julius Bierlich, conductor.

Burton Holmes Travalgue, Bonnie Scotland.

Fisher, Reed and Pallette presenting a ?.

Miss Camille Astor and Mr. Stefan Nowakowski, Polish national dance.

Mr. Harry McCoy at the piano.

Smiling Billy Mason and Alice Forest in popular ragtime.

The Lasky players in "The Critic or the Tragedy Rehearsed," produced by Hobart Bosworth who produced the same play at Daly's theater in New York December, 1888. ### HONOR DEPARTED MEMBER

The members and guests of the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. F. C. Rochester, 1111 West Seventh St., Thursday afternoon. Mrs. A. N. Lord as speaker of the afternoon gave a splendid talk relative to the organization, work and present needs of the Maternity hospital, this institution being one of the philanthropies in which this chapter is especially interested. Lovely refreshments were served.

The following resolution of sympathy was passed:

Whereas, God in His wisdom has seen fit to remove from this life our beloved member, Mrs. Mary K. Chamberlin, be it resolved by the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, that we deeply feel the loss of our departed member and extend to her bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy. Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the secretary to Mr. Chamberlin.

The chapter made a donation to the Maternity hospital in memory of Mrs. Chamberlin who was for many years one of its most faithful workers.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair and continued cold tonight and Sunday. Heavy frost Sunday morning. Light westerly winds.

THE CHURCH AND HOUR

EFFORT SHOULD BE MADE TO BRING CHURCH AND MAN TOGETHER

The following paper was prepared and read by C. L. Bullard of 1555 Salem St. at a recent meeting of the Brotherhood of the Congregational church:

The exact position of the church in social, political and religious life of the community has always, from the beginning at Jerusalem, been a matter of decided difference of opinion in the minds of people, both inside and outside the organization.

On one extreme we find the pious soul who considers it an institution given to man direct from the hand of God and whose sole province is to minister to his religious and ethical nature, while on the other hand we find the person who considers it also within the province of the church to exercise a controlling influence over all the social, political, educational and economic conditions of both the community and the individual and its inception and establishment purely a concept of the mind of man while a few people consider it entirely unnecessary.

Now it is perfectly evident from a careful study of the gospels that Jesus Christ was a pure socialist; and it is also evident from narrative related in the book of Acts that the original church established at Jerusalem was a strictly socialistic organization, which, like all others of that nature, entirely discarded its socialistic features as soon as it grew to very great proportions. But as we glance down the pages of history we notice that this ideal state of affairs, which is spoken of in Acts, as the time when they that believed were all together and had all things in common, has been the Utopian dream of countless reformers, ever since. But up to this present time, every society or organization founded upon this idea has been a failure. Therefore in view of the inevitable failure of all such communistic attempts it is very remarkable to note that the teachings of the one from whom all these reformers have derived their inspiration, have been recognized as infallible authority by the most progressive, enlightened and civilized peoples of the world for nearly two thousand years.

And it is also noticeable that while in all previous as well as in all subsequent civilizations and great religious movements the great leaders and religious teachers invariably inculcated in their teachings the same ethical principles as those taught by Christ. No other teachings have carried with them sufficient authority to make them effective and in a subsequent times no other teacher has been able to supplant his instructions as the moral and ethical guide of the most progressive intelligent and powerful nations of the earth, or to add anything to or take anything from them.

Men of the greatest learning, the most acute and logical reasoning powers, the profoundest thought and the most exalted character all unite in pronouncing the "Sermon on the Mount" as a perfect guide for adjusting all relations between man and man.

In view of the foregoing facts the question of whether or no the church should assume the leadership of a movement tending to readjust the government of an enlightened people so as to conform more to the Christian philosophy as the only true form of government, and the one to which all peoples must ultimately attain; or, to cling strictly to the teaching of religion and theology, as ever they have in the past, is one which is of importance because it will perhaps determine the question of the very existence of the church itself.

The history of civilization is the story of special privilege and the efforts of one set of people to maintain and the others to destroy or modify it.

In primitive times the tribe of people who had united together for defense against predatory men, animals and natural forces, found it necessary to have a head or leader, and the individuals who attained to that position relegated to themselves certain powers, privileges and immunities not enjoyed by the others and the tendency has always been to enlarge upon these prerogatives until the limit of the forbearance of the others has been reached, when the greed of the leaders would be checked by a revolt of some of their followers and the matter invariably settled by an armed combat between the adherents of each party, and whenever the class endowed with special privilege has triumphed the insurrection has been called a rebellion against the proper and heaven ordained authorities, and when the other side has been successful it has

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1916

THE NECESSITY FOR A NATIONAL LEPROSARIUM

It is estimated that there are 500 to 2500 lepers scattered throughout the United States, California receiving her full quota, many of whom come from Mexico, the Orient and from other States. At the present time there are only three institutions in this country which are maintained solely for the unfortunates who are afflicted with this communicable, loathsome, mutilating, chronic disease. At a hearing held by the Committee on Public Health and National Quarantine of the United States Senate on February 15, 1916, for the purpose of considering a bill to provide for the care and treatment of lepers, the experts who had been summoned from different parts of the country, were unanimous in stating that the disease has been present in the United States for a considerable number of years and that it is on the increase. It was further shown that the treatment which is at present accorded to lepers by the general public is in many instances most inhumane and cruel and that the only known means for effectively controlling the spread of this disease is segregation.

The absence of leprosia had caused many of these lepers to wander about the country seeking an asylum, and in this way they engage in interstate travel and hence fall within the jurisdiction of the general government. Frequently they have no place of legal residence and it is therefore impossible to decide which State is responsible for their care and treatment. The incubation period of leprosy is very long, sometimes as many as thirty years elapsing between the exposure of the disease and the development of the symptoms. It is therefore exceedingly difficult to remand these prospective lepers at ports of entry, and on account of the insular possessions of the United States and the closer commercial relations existing between America and those countries in which leprosy is present, the importation of the disease is very apt to occur.

In addition to this, American citizens are constantly going abroad and residing for variable periods of time in places in which leprosy exists. It was clearly shown at the hearing above referred to that leprosy has in this way been contracted and subsequently imported into the United States. The House of Representatives at its last session passed a bill for the establishment of a national home for lepers. This measure received favorable report of the Senate Committee on Public Health and National Quarantine and has the backing of Senator Ransdell of Louisiana and many other prominent men in Congress.

DEPLORABLE CONDITION

It is with surprise the announcement is made that a Los Angeles policeman held up an expressman and stole from $4,000 to $6,000 in actual money besides checks and valuable papers. What is still more surprising is that the man who now proves to be a highway bandit has been in the employ of the city for more than four years.

Think of a man who had taken an oath to protect property and life, committing an act such as was committed by Griffith on Thursday. There was a time in Chicago when good people who were traveling the streets late at night kept as far away from the policemen as possible to insure a greater degree of safety. This state of affairs will exist in Los Angeles if many cases such as that of Griffith arise. Griffith is crazy or else he is a villain of the worst type, and now may it not seem strange that the true nature of this man was not discovered many months ago. It is only two years ago thirty or forty Los Angeles policemen came to Glendale on an outing and several of their number were so badly intoxicated that local officers were called out to protect property these men threatened to destroy. This would indicate that there has been a laxness on the part of higher officials in Los Angeles, in not keeping a police force which would comprise sober and honest men.

VALUE OF POULTRY SHOWS

The raising of poultry has become one of the important and profitable industries of Southern California. Poultry for meat and egg production is furnishing a revenue for thousands of people who devote almost all of their time to the work of chicken raising. Poultry shows tend to create a greater and a more intelligent interest in the enterprise. The bringing together of 500 birds by more than a score of breeders affords an opportunity to compare breeds and give and get hints that are very valuable. Among the many varieties of poultry there is a variety that is adapted to a breeder's needs more than any other variety, and a poultry show is a good place to learn something about the various breeds.

The information gained at a show will be quite authentic for poultry breeders who take the trouble to prepare birds for a show are interested in the poultry business, and make a study of the merits of the various breeds.

EVERYBODY IS RESPONSIBLE

There is a tendency to shift responsibilities when it comes to caring for the things in which the public is responsible. The question is asked why not do something to cause factories to come to our city? Why not get the carfare reduced? Why not secure a municipal park? Why not do this and why not do that? Your responsibility for the lack of what is needed is just as great as that of any other citizen. You cannot ask others to take the lead when you do not even lend a helping hand. The work-together spirit is what counts.

LOYAL SUPPORTERS

There has not been any time in the history of the Evening News that the citizens of the Glendale community have been more loyal to the paper than they are at present. They appreciate the advantage of having a live daily newspaper to represent a thriving and intelligent people such as those residing in this section of the San Fernando Valley.

MOTHERS' STUDY CIRCLE

The Mothers' Study Reading Circle met as usual Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Pacific avenue school. The little library was taxed to the utmost to hold the earnest members of the circle. Fingers were busily engaged with Christmas fancy work, but their thoughts were centered on "The Training of the Boy" by McKeever.

The circle was fortunate in having with them Mrs. Gibbons, a most charming and exceedingly well informed woman, who is temporarily located in Glendale with her interesting family. Besides her own child of 4½ years, she has taken in to her home five other children of unfortunate home conditions, making a family of six children with ages ranging from 4½ to 14 years. She believes Christian training the most vital thing, that which is pre-eminently first; that fresh air and the right kind of food make it an easy matter for children to be true to the best in them. And that every mother should be accountable for at least four children, if not her own then others who need a mother. Her training has been along this line of motherhood and her broad understanding of dietetics and her system in dealing with the domestic routine was most interesting and wonderfully helpful. We are very hopeful of securing Mrs. Gibbons as a member of our circle and we are expecting her at the next meeting with some interesting data. The educational committee are much encouraged with the increased interest shown and are desirous of extending an opportunity to any one interested in child study, whether or not affiliated with the Parent-Teacher association or wherever located to join this circle.

A new book, "The Training of the Girl," by the same author, will probably be the one selected next and will be started about the middle of January. The holiday season will then be over and many no doubt will find it convenient to attend. There are no dues, no restrictions and no requirements except interest in the subject. The circle will meet on Wednesday of next week, December 13, instead of Thursday.

It is nice to be able to make your wife a present of an auto, a Victrola or a diamond, but there are men in Glendale who do this whose insurance protection is so small that if they were suddenly "called" they would leave their families very little if any income. Has such a man a moral right to make such a gift? Think it over. Put first things first.

AT GLENDAL E HIGH

BERNA MARTIN AND DAVID JOHNSTON WIN IN LEAGUE DEBATE

"And so, honorable judges, I believe we have proved that our system of immigration restriction should be adopted."

These were the closing words of Berna Martin in the first league debate of the year held Friday evening in the school auditorium.

And Berna was right. Glendale had won two judges.

It was a splendid debate. The house should have been packed. But where were all the students who had so vigorously declared for school spirit the night before? Where were the boys who had clapped the faculty stump speakers when they said that school spirit was reviving? Where were they? And where were the girls?

They did not occupy the seats in the auditorium—that is sure. The upholders of Glendale's honors spoke to the backs of seats for the most part, and so did the two promising young lawyers from Santa Ana. Scarcely fifty persons were present.

But still the speeches were good, the rebuttals were good and the decision was good—at least it listened good to the Glendale rooters.

It is proper to say, also, that the decision was a surprise, even to Berna Martin and David Johnston, the heroes. They have worked under a severe handicap, for not until three days ago were they appointed on the team because of the failure of the affirmative team to return from a trip to San Diego. Their victory speaks well for their efforts during the past four days.

Virgil Pentacost and Robert Hill debated for Santa Ana.

The Junior girls—or some of them at least—had a quilting party Friday. As a result the class treasury is $35 to the good.

It was this way: They charged the rest of us a dime apiece to watch their little party, which they held on the stage in the auditorium. Almost every seat was filled. Everyone got their dime's worth too, for the little comedy was well played, and the make-up was a scream. The three old farmers and the village parson were as realistic as the old ladies.

The domestic arts department held a most interesting exhibit Friday in the sewing and cooking rooms and in the model bungalow. It is surprising to see the excellent work which high school girls are capable of doing. Mere man is incapable of doing it justice in description.

Miss Muller's design classes are responsible for the unique but artistic decorations in the bungalow.

THE OVERLAND SPECIAL

A. MEYER WRITES OF TRIP OF PACIFIC COAST DEALERS TO TOLEDO

Mr. A. Meyer, the dealer in Overland and Willys-Knight automobiles, left a short time ago on a trip to the Willys-Overland Co.'s plant at Toledo, Ohio. It is to be a general "get-together" meeting and convention and every large Overland dealer in the U. S. A. will be there. In a letter just received by his son, among other things he said: "This is certainly some trip; we have fifteen coaches on our train, and there are over three hundred of us Pacific Coast dealers on our way to inspect 'that largest automobile factory in the world.' They say it covers 28 city blocks, meaning 103 acres. And we are going to try out all the new models—and then I will write you all about it. We are having all kinds of amusements and all we can eat and smoke—and I must say that the Willys-Overland Co. are doing things up in grand style, and doing them right—but as that is their custom in everything they do, we are not greatly surprised. They do this just as thorough and well, as they do in making automobiles; and everyone knows how well that is. I wish you were with me, Les, because you certainly would enjoy it, and it would be a trip worth while, as I look forward to going through that wonderful factory, and to see and find out 'how they make so good a car at so low a price.' There is a daily 'newspaper' published on board train, a copy of which I enclose, and this is but one of the many 'original ideas' that help to make us all think more than ever of the Overland factory; the official name of this humorous paper being 'The Willys-Overland Special Scandal.'"

Les Meyer, in speaking of the matter said, "I surely would like to have had the opportunity of going on this trip, as I realize that, aside from the pleasure and amusement of it, it will be a great asset in selling cars. It is not intended to be a frolic, excursion, or 'joy ride' but a serious, business proposition, and will undoubtedly be of great interest and advantage to all the Overland dealers that were able to take the trip. Considering the facts mentioned in the letter about the size of the factory, and that they have a capacity of one thousand cars daily, it is hard to realize what an immense organization this Willys-Overland Co. is, without seeing it. I received a postal showing the new administration building of the Willys-Overland Co., and that building alone is larger than a good many complete factories. Aside from the three hundred Pacific Coast dealers at the convention, there will be a very large percentage of dealers from all other parts of the country, and as there are in the neighborhood of six thousand Overland agents in the U. S. A., there will be 'some dealers' there. And, after seeing and reading of all these things, it gives one mighty good reason why there are so many Overlands sold:—the largest automobile factory in the whole world is behind them. That, in my opinion, is the season why 'they make so good a car at so low a price.'"

Christmas comes, he comes, he comes,
Ushered with a rain of plums.
Hollies in the windows greet him,
Every mouth delights to name him.
Schools come driving home to meet him.
Wet and cold and wind and dark
Make him but the warmer mark.
—Leigh Hunt.

Long ere the dawn can claim the sky
The tempest rolls subservient by,
While bells on all sides ring and say
How Christ the child was born today.
—Lord Houghton.

PRETTY CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS.

There are many pretty customs which are observed at Christmas time in different countries. One of the prettiest of these customs is thus described by a traveler in Sweden. He writes: "One wintry afternoon at Christmastide I had been skating on a pretty lake three miles from Gothenburg. On my way home I noted that at every farmer's house there was erected, in the middle of the dooryard, a pole, to the top of which was bound a large, full sheaf of grain. This, I was informed, was for the little wild birds. 'They must have a merry Christmas, too,' I was told. Not a peasant in Sweden will sit down with his children to a Christmas dinner indoors until he has first raised aloft a Christmas dinner for the little birds that live in the cold and snow outside."

Brother Emerson is a man of fine appearance and an eloquent speaker. He will bring a message that will interest all who hear him.

Brother Emerson will preach Sunday evening also and his subject will be "The One Alternative." We bespeak for him a large audience.

Our new pastor, Elder Clifford A. Cole, now with the Compton Heights church, St. Louis, will arrive in Glendale on Dec. 24 or 25. He is hoping to spend Christmas with his parents. Brother Cole has made a wonderful record in St. Louis and has so endeared himself to his congregation there that they voluntarily gave him the last two weeks of December, thus enabling him to be with his people in California that much earlier. The Glendale church is to be congratulated on securing so able a man and will no doubt do a great work with him at the helm.

Sunday morning the first of three pre-Christmas sermons will be presented, "The Christ of Power—An Answer to the Question of Christ's Enemies." The league and Sunday school meet as usual. ## WHO BRINGS THE TOYS?

Tariff, machines, figures—what have they to do with Toyland?

You grown people may smile a little wistfully to see another leaf of romance fall away from the tree of life forever. But the thousands of little boys and girls the world over know better. They know who makes the toys and who brings them. They know how old Santa Claus comes down with his heavy pack from the snowy spaces between the stars—down, straight down, through the chimney in a skirl of wind and a flurry of powdery flakes, and gets not one whit the sootier for it; and how he lands as good natured and jolly as ever on the smoldering hearth, with fairy gifts for his children.

And what cares little Jack or Jill anyhow whence they come as long as they get their toys?

THE CHURCH AND HOUR

gone down in history as a revolution and a glorious triumph of the cause of freedom.

With each succeeding rebellion and revolution that has marked the history of this never ending struggle, there has come very gradually into the minds of men the idea that perhaps an armed combat was not the best way to settle this ever recurring difficulty and that perhaps, if it were adjusted on the basis of the Christian philosophy the chances of its remaining permanently unsettled would be very much improved and the church being the visible exponent of the doctrine taught by Christ, it has occurred to many thinking people that he initial movement leading such an adjustment of affairs should properly have its start from within that organization.

The great and very manifest unrest of the present times seems to be pointing to a time in the near future, when the inevitable and oft-recurring revolt against the privileged class will culminate in a mighty struggle of some description, and that important changes in our relations to each other will be necessary to readjust matters on anything like a peaceable basis. In times past such things have been postponed by great wars like the 30 years war or the Napoleonic wars or the present war in Europe and also by the opportunity of the over-populated countries to unload their peoples and their problems upon the United States. But as the United States is about filled up and we have no new world to unload on, and we do not intend to fight ourselves into a state of exhaustion in the worlds wars we have got to settle this question and it will never be settled until settled right.

The tendency of the early church was conservative and it has often gone on record as being opposed to those reforms and discoveries that have done the most for the advancement of mankind. But in the Lutheran reformation and the revolt of the English Puritans against the excess of special privilege we see the dawning of a better spirit. The attitude of the church on human slavery and the use of alcohol as a beverage has marked another step of progress. But those are things of the past and the question is will the church rise to the requirements of the present ages. For the time is ripe for the church to step to the front and assume the leadership of a movement to take from the favored ones of earth certain privileges to which they have no right and to adjust the affairs of men upon those principles laid down by Jesus Christ. As the church stands today it cannot do this, it is cumbered with an accumulation of useless trash handed down by men of the past which prevent its being active or popular enough, and it must rid itself of much of this to bring in the men and women who have the intellect, spirituality and power to lift the Christ up to the world in a way to draw all men unto him.

The church is the grandest, the best, and the most essential organization of the community. Without its protective influence social organizations go to dangerous lengths. Our music becomes one-sided and in some ways discordant. Our fraternities vicious and their morality a jest. Our business becomes thievery and our government graft. And it might be well just now to make a vigorous effort to bring the churchless man and the manless church together lest we lose that institution from our midst.

Facts and Comment

Harry Halford of Burbank caught a pair of bobcats this week, one Tuesday and one Thursday, along the Los Angeles river bed. The last one caught is still alive and Mr. Halford has it in a cage at Burbank. It is said to be one of the largest wildcats that has ever been caught.

The salt harvest which is being refined at the Long Beach Salt Company plant this season amounts to more than 10,000 tons and is valued at $60,000. The Marine Chemical company, which extracts potassium chloride from the bitter water or residue waste after all salt has been removed, has shut down temporarily to work out new processes which chemists believe will furnish a new field for the plant. The company is being promoted by large moneyed interests on the Pacific slope and report says that a large plant will soon be built at Long Beach.

The Union Iron Works of San Francisco, according to figures just published by the Bureau of Navigation of the U. S. Department of Commerce, had building on November 1, a larger gross tonnage of steel merchant vessels than any other shipyard in the country. The figures for the first three plants are: Union Iron Works, 28 vessels, 175,028 gross tons; New York Ship Building Co., 26 vessels, 133,804 gross tons; American Bridge Co., 101 vessels, 51,250 gross tons. Since the above figures were compiled the Navy Department has awarded to the Union Iron Works the contract for the construction of six torpedo boat destroyers which will cost to exceed $7,000,000.
